WELCOME

to the World Justice Forum II

Every nation and culture has universal aspirations; we want communities that are safe, healthy, just, educated, and prosperous. The rule of law is essential to achieving these goals.

The World Justice Forum brings us together around our shared belief in two complimentary premises. First, the rule of law is the foundation for communities of opportunity and equity. Second, collaboration across work disciplines is the most effective way to advance the rule of law.

At the Inaugural World Justice Forum held in July of 2008, leaders from 15 disciplines and from 83 countries forged new relationships and designed 89 programs to advance the rule of law in their communities. Many of those programs received seed money from our Opportunity Fund.

At the World Justice Forum II, leaders from around the world representing many disciplines will reinforce relationships, forge new ones and design more programs. At this Forum, we will have the benefit of findings from programs designed at the Inaugural Forum, as well as data gathered by applying our Rule of Law Index in over 30 countries.

The World Justice Project's work depends upon the support of distinguished honorary chairs, sponsors and funders. We thank them for their valuable contributions to this effort.

Each of you can play a key role in launching a multinational, multidisciplinary movement to advance the rule of law. This second Forum will serve as an incubator of more programs to advance the rule of law in our respective communities. I look forward to working with you in the days ahead.

Sincerely,

HERZLICH WILKOMMEN IN WIEN!

Effective rule of law is one of the cornerstones of a democratic society. Its importance cannot be overstated. Therefore, I am honored that the World Justice Forum will be held in Vienna for the second time from November 11-14, 2009.

We are living in times when the rule of law is threatened even in countries with high standards for the rule of law. One worrying development relates to surveillance measures, introduced with the ostensible purpose of combating crime and terrorism, but threatening society's basic rights. Moreover, EU anti-money laundering legislation conflicts with the fundamental rights of EU citizens to consult a lawyer in full confidentiality, without the lawyer reporting them to government authorities. It is essential that such measures do not threaten fundamental rights and that civil society is informed of such potential threats.

Defending the rights of individuals and upholding the rule of law are the most important duties of lawyers. The Austrian Bar thus welcomes the World Justice Forum in its efforts to strengthen the rule of law by providing a platform for participants from different disciplines from all over the world. In this spirit, I would like to welcome all participants of the World Justice Forum to Vienna and wish this conference every success.

An Overview

The World Justice Project is a high-level, multinational, multidisciplinary, and politically neutral initiative to strengthen the rule of law and access to justice worldwide. The WJP's founding principles are: that the rule of law is the foundation for communities of opportunity and equity; and that multidisciplinary collaboration is the most effective way to advance the rule of law.

The WJP bases its definition of the rule of law on four universal principles:

- The government and its officials and agents are accountable under the law;
- The laws are clear, publicized, stable and fair, and protect fundamental rights, including the security of persons and property;
- The process by which the laws are enacted, administered and enforced is accessible, fair and efficient; and
- The laws are upheld, and access to justice is provided, by competent, independent, and ethical law enforcement officials, attorneys or representatives, and judges who are of sufficient number, have adequate resources, and reflect the makeup of the communities they serve.

Since the WJP's start in December 2006, the WJP has focused on strengthening the rule of law through four complementary and mutually reinforcing program areas:

MAINSTREAMING: The WJP is mainstreaming the rule of law into the thinking and actions of a broad range of fields, thereby creating a new, expanded constituency committed to taking action to strengthen the rule of law worldwide. In multidisciplinary outreach meetings held in Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America and North America, the WJP has brought together senior leaders from more than 120 countries, representing a diverse array of fields. In the United States, similar multidisciplinary outreach meetings were sponsored by state bar associations, courts, and other organizations to develop networks and initiatives to strengthen the rule of law within the United States.

At the regional outreach meeting held in Ghana in January 2008, the WJP launched a pilot small grants program, which funded initiatives by faith, labor, public health, women's rights and other organizations to advance the rule of law in 11 Sub-Saharan African countries. Following the inaugural World Justice Forum in July 2008, the WJP launched the Opportunity Fund. The Opportunity Fund encourages the use of new and innovative methods to advance the rule of law and supports programs to create rapid results and encourage long-term sustainability. Through the Opportunity Fund, the WJP has provided seed funding for 36 rule of law initiatives all over the world. Grantees are currently working on a wide variety of such initiatives, ranging from capacity building for the poor in India, to legal aid training for women in Lebanon, to developing a model for delivering justice services in China. An additional round of Opportunity Fund grants was held following the Cape Town, South Africa, regional outreach meeting in May 2009 and subsequent competitive grant competitions will be held following the World Justice Forum II and a planned regional outreach meeting for the Middle East and North Africa in 2010.

RULE OF LAW INDEX: The World Justice Project developed the Rule of Law Index as the first comprehensive, country-by-country tool to measure the rule of law in practice. The Index translates the Rule of Law Principles into a system of factors and sub-factors that measure such rule of law elements as: open and accountable government, public participation and access to information, non-discrimination and protection of fundamental rights, enforcement of contracts, security of persons and property, and access to justice through competent and impartial courts. The Index will be administered periodically to provide government leaders, civil society, non-governmental organizations and business leaders with information to enable them to assess and strengthen adherence to the rule of law and to measure incremental change over time. The WJP has completed pilot field testing of Version 1.0 of the Rule of Law Index in six countries and will present the findings of Version 2.0 for over thirty countries at the World Justice Forum II.

SCHOLARSHIP: The WJP scholarship program has featured rigorous research by two teams of leading international scholars. One team, which included Nobel Laureates Dr. James Heckman and Dr. Amartya Sen, has written original papers examining the relationship between the rule of law and economic, political and social development. A second team, led by Professor Yash Ghai, conducted comparative field studies on how marginalized groups obtain access to justice. Both collections have since been published by Routledge Press. Another distinguished group of international scholars will present new research on the rule of law at the World Justice Forum II.

WORLD JUSTICE FORUM: The World Justice Forum builds on the WJP's achievements to date. The Forum is at once an educational event, an occasion for determining next steps for the World Justice Project, and an incubator for new programs and strategies to advance the rule of law. Held in Vienna, Austria in July 2008, the inaugural World Justice Forum brought together 450 governmental and non-governmental leaders from 83 countries representing such diverse disciplines as the arts, business, education, engineering, environment, faith, human rights, labor, law enforcement, media, military, public health, and government. The new multidisciplinary coalitions founded at the Forum launched cross-country, cross-disciplinary programs to strengthen the rule of law in communities, countries and regions around the world. The World Justice Forum II will continue the WJP's work to: spark positive, concrete action for stronger rule of law implementation; build new partnerships among organizations and entities committed to strengthening the rule of law; and explore how the rule of law affects the work of all disciplines and professions. We expect more than 325 leaders from 85 countries, representing more than 15 disciplines, to attend the second Forum.

You may obtain further details about all of our initiatives at www.worldjusticeproject.org.

Taxis are available at all airport terminals. Fares to the city centre are around €40, including fees and tip.

The CAT runs directly from the airport to the City Centre in roughly 16 minutes. Fares are €9 one way or €16 round trip. The CAT departs the airport every 30 minutes at 5 and 35 past the hour. It departs Landstrasse/Wien Mitte station in Vienna City Centre every 30 minutes at 8 and 38 minutes past the hour.

By S-Bahn (Local Commuter Train)

The S-Bahn or Schnellbahn also runs directly from the airport to many points in the city. Take the S7 (or S2) and arrive in the City Centre in 26-30 minutes. Fares are €3.60 one way or €7.20 round trip.

TRANSPORTATION TO AND FROM THE AUSTRIA CENTER VIENNA BY METRO UNDERGROUND

Three-day underground passes have been included in your welcome materials upon check-in at your hotel for public transportation to and from the Forum sessions at the ACV. You can recognize underground stations by a big blue U sign. Underground travel to the ACV takes approximately 40 minutes once one enters the applicable station.

Where a wife is stripped of her husband's property when he dies.

With poverty so suffocating that parents are forced to sell children in order to survive.

Where people are imprisoned for breaking secret laws.

Prosecuting Terrorism Cases in the Federal Courts—
2009 Update and Recent Developments

Human Rights First follows up on its 2008 report, focusing on domestic criminal cases arising out of international terrorism associated—organizationally, financially, or ideologically—with al Qaeda or other violent extremist groups. This update, researched and authored by two former federal prosecutors, examines legal developments over the last 18 months and concludes that the U.S. criminal justice system has been—and should continue to be—an important tool in confronting terrorism.
